ASSEMBLYMAN STREAM BACKS COORD COUNCIL

Jim Harris

Assemblyman Charles W. Stream, reelected at the primaries, to represent the country part of San Diego County, called upon his neighbors to take up the work of Coordinating Councils in their own community and help the youth-protecting movement to the best of their ability.

Detailing his experience in the study of youthful criminals and delinquent boys and girls, the assemblyman gave a stirring address to his Palm City Chamber of Commerce. Stream has been president of this chamber since it was organized ten years ago. With a fine gathering of people come to congratulate him on his reelection as well as to carry on the business of the organization, the subject of Coordinating Councils was presented, briefly, by members of the County organization.

Referring to a statement of one of these, the Assemblyman told of going, as guest of the governor of Idaho, some years ago to the Idaho penitentiary. There, in his presence, the governor talked, one at a time and familiarly, with 22 young men who were imprisoned there.

"We found abundant proof of the statement just made by the last speaker," he said, "that criminals do come from good homes and from communities supposed to be clean."

"Riding back with the governor, we were silent for awhile. Then I said: 'Governor, we have been attending conventions to work for reclamation of desert land, mountain forest, and water. It occurs to me that the great need of our country is a movement for the reclamation of our youth.' And the governor replied that he had been silent, thinking that very same thing."

"As a member of a committee of the California legislature," continued the assemblyman, "I went to investigate San Quentin prison. Of the total of men confined there, 2,000 in number, we found the average age was 23 years."

Stream then told the group: "We dare not shirk our duty here. Our district needs this work. As good citizens we should go in to this movement. Coordinating Councils needs us."

After more affirmative speaking, the council requested the Coordinating field representative to invite in the president and members of the women's club, the recreation district, the public school officials and other organizations and to fix a night for meeting at the Palm City Chamber of Commerce hall, to organize and begin work as a Council.

Will Discuss Pension At Russ Auditorium

Roger Coffin, Executive Manager of San Diego and Imperial Counties for the California Pension Plan, states that the next meeting will be held Friday, Sept. 9, at the Russ Auditorium in San Diego. Due to the tremendous interest in the California Retirement Life Payments Act it has been decided to continue at the Russ Auditorium as it is the largest auditorium available in the city.

Bill Feeler, generally known as Dynamite Bill and one of the Directors of the California Pension Plan, will be there as guest speaker and he has a powerful message to deliver. This is Mr. Feeler's first appearance in San Diego and he was brought down from headquarters because of numerous requests from local members.

The Retirement Life Payments Act will be explained at this meeting and a question-and-answer period will be included in the program.

Those desiring good seats are advised to come early as the doors will be closed when the last seat is taken.

The meeting will begin promptly at 8:00 p. m.

Lakeside Chamber of Commerce to Meet September 14th, in Womans Club House

UNITED REPUBLICAN PARTY IN STATE ASSURED

A United Republican Party is now assured following the exchange of telegrams between Governor Merriam and his late opponent in the primary, Lt. Gov. Geo. J. Hatfield. The new alliance will go forward in the general campaign with a strong non-partisan support for men and women of all parties on a non-partisan platform opposed to radicalism.

Hatfield telegraphed Merriam: "By a decisive choice the Republican Party has selected you as its standard-bearer against the Radical Socialist candidate of the Democratic Party. I congratulate you and pledge you my full support in the November election."

Merriam responded: "This will acknowledge your gracious telegram and generous pledge of support. Accept my sincere thanks. Your help and that of your friends and supporters will be appreciated and prove a most valuable asset in winning the November election. Again I thank you."

The Bible Study and prayer meeting will meet Thursday evening, Sept. 15, with Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Lakeside Farms. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Major will have charge of the study period.

$902,480 For San Diego County Roads

A Works Progress Administration allotment of $682,090.00 for improvement of San Diego county roads was approved this week by President Roosevelt, on the recommendation of Congressman Ed. V. Izac, who was informed of the O. K. by the President, Tuesday.

The project will provide 500 men with work for 20 months, local W. P. A. authorities said.

The county will meet the allocation with $220,390.00, making a total of $902,480.00 to be expended. Replacement of bridges, road oiling and repairing will be included in the general project.

The Lakeside Chamber of Commerce will hold a belated September meeting on next Wednesday evening with a dinner at 6:30 at the Womans Club House served by the Ladies Aid Society.

The El Cajon Planning Commission has been invited to meet with the Chamber this time and a large crowd is expected.

Mr. DeWald, member of the San Diego County Planning Commission will be present with his maps, etc., and give a talk on the work of the commission in the county.

A number of members of Suncrest Chamber will be present. Ladies invited.

Roy Clymer Jr., of the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, located at San Pedro, has spent five days' leave at the home of his parents on their ranch on the Ramona Highway.

Farmers To Explain Own Exhibit At Fair

Agricultural conservation and marketing activities in California and nation as a whole are being shown in an exhibit by the Agricultural conservation office today.

Ralph J. Pitkin, Red Bluff rancher, and Robert Wilson, San Fernando Valley farmer, members of the California Agricultural Conservation Committee, are there on hand to explain to farmers and others interested, these activities of the national farm program which affect California agriculture.

The exhibit is being sponsored by the State Committee, whose chairman is David J. Davidson, Tulare cotton grower. Other members of the committee include George Wilson, sugar beet producer at Clarksburg, and B. H. Crocheron, director of the California Agricultural Extension Service, who is an ex-officio member. State Committee headquarters are at Berkeley, with W. B. Parker, as State Executive Officer.

The State Committee, assisted by county and community committees, administers the agricultural and range conservation programs, provisions of the new farm act relating to cotton, wheat and crop insurance, and the sugar act.

SIX THOUSAND PEOPLE ATTEND LAKESIDE'S BIG TWO-DAY RODEO

VOTE ON IRRIGATION BONDS SEPTEMBER 19

A local election of especial interest to the town of Lakeside, and to the outlying section which is within the territory of the Lakeside Irrigation District, has been called for September 19th.

The election, official notice of which will be found elsewhere in this paper, calls for a bond issue of the Lakeside Irrigation District for the purpose of replacing the majority of the pipe lines within the district.

According to Byron Conrad, president of the district's board of directors, the board, faced with the necessity of pipe replacement, has considered this a very opportune time to call the election, in order to obtain a government P.W.A. grant before the cessation of the P. W. A. projects.

The proposed grant of $5,000.00 would make it necessary for the Irrigation District to issue bonds for only $7,000.00 of the $12,000.00 required for pipe replacement. In other words, said Mr. Conrad, the $5,000.00 is a public service government gift, and without this donation the district itself, would be required to raise the total $12,000.00.

Members of the board of directors of the district state that, with last winter's disaster is threatened to the district's water supply. Within a short time the district must face the necessity of pipe replacement. While the present lines, with good luck, may last another year, at any time especially during the wet weather, a major break may cost several thousand dollars for repairs.

The bonds, amounting to $7,000.00, if voted favorably upon, will be taken up by the P. W. A. with such a low rate of interest, and easy payments, that, as stated by the directors, there will be no increase in the current tax rate.

Much credit is due to the management of the district's board of directors, in that the P. W. A. grant has been considered favorably by the authorities. The fact that the district has scrupulously met its obligations, having kept up the interest, and also having retired $5,000.00 of the first bond issue, largely influenced the P. W. A. consideration.

WINDMILL POTTERY STUDIO BEGINS SECOND YEAR OF CLAY ACTIVITY

Of wide interest is the announcement by Margaret Tipton Wheatly of the opening of the fall course in pottery at the Windmill Pottery Studio, at her picturesque Dutch windmill place on highway 80.

Open house will be held by the Studio this Sunday afternoon, from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended anyone desiring information about the work for this year. Class days have been tentatively set for Tuesday and Friday. Work to begin at 10 a. m. and end at 4:00 p. m.

This handcraft pottery activity has been of wide social significance, since it brings together people of like interests from all points of the valley enduring friendships have developed during former classes.

Mrs. Wheatly, the director, feels this craft offers an opportunity for self expression denied in many of the Fine Arts, because of the years of training necessary to do creditable work. Ceramics can, it is true, be a fine art also, but it is more often a splendid craft, wherein persons of average ability can create something of lasting beauty for their homes.

The windmill studio offers in ten all day classes the rudiments of pottery making. Students are privileged to work on at the studio after the course is completed, under supervision and become efficient potters. In this way coming to know the how and the why of clay, its handling, and become familiar and perfectly at home with the processes so that individual objects of useful beauty may be created and satisfaction found through this creation.

* More than six thousand people attended the Lakeside Rodeo which was held here Sunday and Monday. And the show this time was one of the best ever held at the local grounds.

Abe Lefton, at the mike of the loud speaker, was appreciated by the big crowd as he kept them interested and laughing most of the time. He is especially to be complimented on the way he handled the Grand Entry and during the afternoon his jokes kept the crowd in good humor.

Beverly Ann Davey was present again this time and gave her high school horse a good work out and entertained the crowd.

The big number was the calf roping contest by the officers and directors of the association, but the joke of it was that not one of them even caught a calf the first day. The second day, however, Charlie Andrews, who was pinch hitting for George Miller, did succeed in catching and roping a calf.

The officers and directors of the association are very well satisfied with the outcome of the rodeo and appreciate the support given them by the local people and the public in general. It was a big success in every way and winds up the rodeo season for this year.

S. D. EVENTS TO GET NATIONAL PUBLICITY

Eight attractions of outstanding interest scheduled in San Diego county next month are being widely publicized by the All-Year Club of California. They include:

Lakeside rodeo, Sept. 5; Escondido Grape day festival, Sept. 9; Mexican Independence day fiesta, Balboa park, Sept. 15-16; Fiesta de la luna, Chula Vista, Sept. 23, 24; 10th annual southern California clay courts tennis championships, Golden Hill playgrounds, Sept. 6 to 11; Oceanside rough water swim, Sept. 5; International Star Class Yacht Racing association world championship races, Coronado roads, Sept. 12 to 18.

Attends Three-day 4H Convention At Davis

Donald Clevenger returned Sunday from Davis, California, where he had been attending a three day session of the 4H Club Convention that was held in the Agricultural College at Davis. Donald was the delegate from the 4H Club of Lakeside.

There were over 1020 delegates and they travelled on a special train of 17 cars. They stopped in Sacramento and visited the Capitol building there and saw the State Fair Grounds and marched in uniform to listen to an address by Governor Merriam. On the return trip they stopped off and were taken through the Berkeley College and also saw the big bridges. It was a grand trip and very instructive.

Senator Ed. Fletcher Thanks The Voters

"I am more than pleased that my constituents, by their votes Tuesday, gave me such an overwhelming victory," Senator Fletcher said following the primary election. "I love my work and all who know me, know that it always has been a pleasure to help develop our community, whether in civic work, national highways, or land and water development."

"I go to the legislature again unpledged, representing all of the people, irrespective of party. San Diego has been good to me and to mine and I never shall forget to appreciate the compliment paid me by the citizens of San Diego county. I pledge the best that is in me for public service, without personal interest. I am more than grateful to all my friends who made this victory possible."

ADMISSION DAY

California celebrates her birthday today with eighty-eight shining candles. Far from being like a toddler octogenarian the Golden State is still a youngster rich in resources, strong in her determination to fulfill scarcely tapped potentialities, proud of her position of leadership
among the great states of the West.

If present evidence yields any clues, California has chapters of high significance yet to write into the annals of American history. As the 1940's rapidly approach us, her importance as a strategic outpost of the American continent fronting the ocean empire of the Pacific, steadily multiplies.

But California has always been an important history-maker from the time the first Spanish caravels skirted its thousand-mile shoreline in the sixteenth century. The jealously sought prize of world powers, the flags of four nations, Spain, Russia, England and Mexico, set their seals of sovereignty upon this land before the Flag of the Republic, and later the Stars and Stripes, claimed California for America.

In that year of 1850, the state could boast a population of scarcely 90,000, but its history since then shows a prodigious growth in population, and in the multiplication of its wealth as traders, merchants and enterprisers with vision, erected upon this frontier a thriving empire.

The task of empire building is far from finished. In honoring her 88th birthday, California celebrates the fact that she is only 88 years young with many ambitious tasks yet to be undertaken.

SCHOOL DAYS AGAIN SOON

School bells will again ring out across California before long. To harried mothers their chime is glad-tidings, but to carefree youngsters their sound will spell the end of easy-going hours filled with adventurous fun.

Youth is oftentimes a rebel, but seldom more so than when he kicks his heels against that first plunge into the three R's.

Yet the healthy discipline of the class room, new playmates, and new tasks to master in readin', writin' and 'rithmetic, help to tame the rebellious spirits speedily—until another summer, and another call to the class room rolls around.

Every school-going youngster,
whether he or she knows it or not,
is a partner in a serious and significant business. In a few years time, he and his classmates will be running this state and this nation of ours, helping shape and direct the destiny of America, economically, politically and socially.

Perhaps they'll be able to make their fathers and grandfathers look like bungling amateurs at the job of running business and government. They may achieve miracles in the field of medical science that have been lying right under this generation's nose, waiting to be discovered. They may erect cities with more sunlight and clean air,
and with less noise and smoky skies.

It all depends. The job of building character and brains, and stimulating imagination and wholesome skepticism, is a mutual one where neither parents, schools nor teachers, dare safely shirk their equal obligations to the youth of today—
the makers of tomorrow's world.

That high task again resumes very soon and an army of young Californians, one million strong, will answer the call.

—oOoO—

ARE WE RED?

California's reaction to the current Congressional investigation, which has painted some of its citizens—from thousand-a-week movie stars to quarter-an-hour laborers—with the red brush of Communism will be a determination to rid the state of any trace of Communist domination.

The Federal sleuths have made definite charges—that movie millionaires are contributing to the cause that will liquidate their fortunes, that alien agitators have won high honors in labor organizations, that federal authorities, instead of hauling, have aided Communist activity.

But what of our own investigators? Have they been able to verify these charges? "There is little doubt," says ex-G-man Maurice Norcop, that there are Communists in California. Some have insinuated themselves into our activities. Others have succeeded in disguising themselves as labor leaders. The average worker, however, must not be penalized because a few paid agitators have been able to find places in labor's organizations.

"Where reds have gained a foothold," says Mr. Norcop, "they must be ruthlessly expelled. The average Californian, whose only 'ism' is his enthusiasm for American ideals, demands a state free from alien influence. There is no place here for the propagation of a system of government which would destroy democracy!"

That is the report of a native
Californian, a G-man who has made it his business to discover the truth about Communism in California.
There is no red-flag waving in those words. But there is an echo of California's determination to end Communist intrigue within the borders of the state.

Jesus' words, "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled," are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Substance" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ Scientist.

One of the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon presents these verses from the Proverbs: "Doth not wisdom cry? and understanding put forth her voice?... Unto you, O men, I call; and my voice is to the sons of man.... Hear: for I will speak of excellent things; and the opening of my lips shall be right things.... I lead in the way of righteousness, in the midst of the paths of judgment: That I may cause those that love me to inherit substance; and I will fill their treasures."

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy state: "Man walks in the direction towards which he looks, and where his treasure is, there will his heart be also. If our hopes and affections are spiritual, they come from above, not from beneath, and they bear as of old the fruits of the Spirit." "Things spiritual and eternal are substantial."

The seven great migrations in the history of Man will be paraded before millions as they visit the 1939 World's Fair of the West on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay.

All the different types of bread used throughout the world will be displayed at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island.

DAVID LINARES PASSED AWAY SUNDAY MORNING

David Linares passed away Sunday morning at 4 o'clock at his home in Lakeside, after a short illness. David Linares has lived in San Diego county for the past fifty years and was a familiar sight on the streets of Lakeside having lived here for about twenty years. At one time he owned a gold mine in the South Creek above El Capitan dam and invested several thousand dollars in the property and never received any returns from it. He has a brother living in Pasadena. He is a cousin of the Stokes family who once owned the Santa Maris Grant which is now the town of Ramona.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST WELFARE DRIVE

The annual drive of the Seventh day Adventist denomination for their world program of welfare and uplift work is once more in full swing, and the local church of which Mr. A. B. Huenergardt is pastor, is endeavoring to do its share. Its members will be calling upon all the people in the El Cajon Lakeside, and Alpine communities to enlist their cooperation in this far-flung program of medical, evangelistic, and educational uplift work.

The young people of the church have again organized themselves into a singing band with the hope of singing courage and good cheer to many, as they sing the old-time Gospel melodies along the streets these summer evenings. They will welcome requests numbers.

Which Way is North?

C. C. Y.

Had a mighty busy week end which left me weak to start this week and have not had time to think about "which way was north" and in fact have not cared much about which hill the north star was peering over.

Last Friday we suddenly took a notion to move from Riverview into Lakeside and are now living in town but are still a long way from being settled as I haven't found my tooth brush yet and have been brushing my teeth with the scrubbing brush.

Saturday was spent doing some more moving and trying to get out the job work. Saturday night was spent in the printing office getting out the programs of the drawings for the two-day Rodeo and got home about 4 o'clock Sunday morning and went to bed. To say that I was "all in" doesn't begin to tell it. Got nicely to sleep and then was awakened at nine o'clock by Mr. Einer who had received a call on the phone for me from San Diego. Got out, only half awake, got into a few clothes (very few) and hiked across the street to the phone booth only to be told by the San Diego "central" girl that there was no message for me and that she didn't know me anyhow, didn't care to.

Went back to bed and just got to snoring in good shape again, yes again, when Mr. Einer came a "tapping at my door" again, yes again, and woke me up again, yes again, and told me that I was wanted at the phone again, yes again. This time I just slipped into my bathrobe and marched across the street to the phone booth. (Had a telephone right in my house but it had been disconnected by some one before we moved in for fear we might use it). This time it was my daughter, Betty, on the other end of the line asking me to come to San Diego for her. As the girl had been away from her family for four months which she had spent visiting in the east, I was mighty glad to hear her voice once more even if I was only half awake but too near all in to drive to San Diego for my own daughter or the daughter of any one else either.

Got her to come out as far as El Cajon on the bus and we met her there and got her home about one-thirty, just in time to beat it out to the Rodeo grounds and get there in time to see the Grand Entry and introduction of officials.

Sunday night had to take the family for a ride and do some calling on relatives.

Monday morning finished up the moving and in the afternoon took in the races at Del Mar Turf club where the San Diego County fair will also be held in October. Then saw the picture show in the evening at El Cajon.

Now then if there is anyone in Lakeside who can beat that record of activity over the weekend let him speak right up or forever hold his tongue.

My only regret is that I could not have gotten in a day's fishing at Oceanside and spent one afternoon at Lane Field where the San Diego "Padres" were winding up a none too successful season.

If I could only have been able to divide myself into parties and

HYGRADE HEADQUARTERS HYGRADE HEADQUARTERS

The Farmer's Corner

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

California farmers need to take a leaf from the notebook of American railroads and nail up the slogan, "Safety First!"

For farming—once considered one of the safest occupations—is now rated as one of the most hazardous.

During the last four years, according to the State Industrial Accident Commission, 252 persons have lost their lives in farm accidents and 45,095 have been injured.

And the cost of farm accidents in California now aggregates more than $10,000,000 annually.

Undoubtedly the increasing use of power machinery and other mechanized equipment on the farm has been a major factor contributing to the increase in deaths and injuries, but a study recently completed by the Fireman's Fund Indemnity Company indicates that most of the accidents in California agriculture are avoidable—or at least that serious consequences are avoidable.

For example: The insurance company's survey revealed that 25 per cent of all losses resulting from agricultural accidents in California can be charged up to infections resulting from neglected injuries. In such instances, losses amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars could have been prevented by ordinary care in treating simple injuries and thereby preventing them from becoming serious.

Farmers, quite frequently protest the cost of accident insurance, and perhaps, in some instances rates have been excessive. But any material reduction in insurance rates must come as the result of a reduction in accident losses—a responsibility which rests squarely on the farming industry.

The majority of farm accidents, according to studies by both state agencies and private insurance companies, are of the following types: Accidents from farm machinery, 10 per cent.

Accidents from hand tools, 10 per cent.

Accidents from farm animals, 10 per cent.

Accidents from hand handling of objects, 20 per cent.

Falls, 21 per cent.

Flying particles, striking fixed objects, falling objects, poison oak and injuries resulting from chemicals used on farms are other causes of accident losses.

But the most striking feature of the analysis is the large percentage of losses charged up to improper treatment, or no treatment, of injuries, followed by serious infections, loss of time, medical and hospital bills and in some cases, death.

Farm accidents, during the last few years, have increased to the point where they exceed those occurring in any other industry in California.

That condition calls for action on the part of individual farmers and the farming industry as a whole. It points clearly to the need for a concerted, well directed campaign to eliminate accident hazards. It emphasizes that farmers should exercise every possible precaution in seeing that farm equipment is in safe working condition. It indicates, too, the need for instructing employees in safety regulations and safety precautions that are accepted as part of the daily routine in all other major industries. American railroads, at one time, had an appalling accident record, with tens of thousands of deaths and injuries annually. But American railroads today can advertise truthfully that you are safer on a train than in your own home. Today they have the finest safety record of any industry. That achievement has been accomplished because the railroads made it their business to teach and practice "Safety First" at all times. California agriculture can reduce its accident toll—and, incidentally, reduce the high cost of accident insurance—by applying the same principles. It's a job that needs attention.

AUTHORITY GIVES OUT SEASON FOR DUCKS AND OTHER BIRDS

Duck and water fowl regulations for 1938 are announced by the out- ing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California as follows:

Open season on ducks, geese, Wilson's snipe or jacksnipe, and coot in the northern zone is October 1 to November 14; in the intermediate zone, October 15 to November 28; and in the southern zone, November 15 to December 29; all dates inclusive.

Western states in the intermediate zone are California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming. Those in the southern zone are Arizona and New Mexico.

This season hunters may have three canvasbacks, redheads, buffleheads, or ruddy ducks in their daily bag of 10, or an aggregate of three birds of the different species. These birds have been on the protected list the past two years. The possession limit for these ducks is six of any single species or six in the aggregate.

Restrictions in hunting regulations this year on migratory birds that have been continued from last year are summarized as follows:

Baiting of waterfowl and doves and use of live duck and goose decoys in hunting waterfowl are not authorized regardless of the distance between the bait or decoys and the shooter.

The 3-shell limit on repeating shotguns, either hand operated or auto loading, in effect the last three seasons, is continued this season. Hunters may use shotguns not larger than No. 10 gauge.

Daily bag limit on ducks is ten in the aggregate, as last season, but the possession limit has been doubled to 20 in the aggregate.

Daily bag limit on geese and brant of the kinds permitted to be killed is five in the aggregate of all kinds; possession limit has been increased to ten in the aggregate.

Closed seasons in any part of the United States on Ross's geese, wood ducks, and swans are con-
